Laurentian University Career Day

The OHCOW Booth was setup for Career Day at Laurentian University on October 11th, 2007. Ergonomist Steve MacDonald stayed with the booth in order to answer questions from students and other employers at the event (see picture below).

OHCOW pamphlets, fact sheets, and handouts explaining the career paths at OHCOW were distributed. Many questions were asked from students in many programs. Several Labour Studies students had approached Steve to talk about the importance of Health & Safety in the workplace.

Several other vendors from the event visited the booth and OHCOW services were solicited for several organizations. Overall, the event was very successful with over 65 booths in attendance.

If you would like to have the OHCOW booth at your event, please check out the link on the Sudbury webpage.
